"I think the combination of real human movement and real human reaction, which you can't really get anywhere else, is really fun to watch in the game," said Niko Villalta, Executive Producer on FIFA 22. "The more that we see football games based on real-life movement, the more we will be able to create a better and more lifelike representation of the game. We've been working on the integration of facial animations, as well as technical improvements that mimic a lot of the movement of the real world." The first step in the development process was to capture the movement of real-life players with the Visual Concepts Motion Capture (MC) squad - a team of agents dedicated to capturing the unique movement of athletes, who are among the biggest and most powerful professional athletes in the world. They travel the world capturing athletes, which they then use to convert the movements into a digital format. The resulting data is then input into the game engine to allow the developers to create the game environment. The data from these extensive captures enabled the engineering team to observe the kinds of collisions, for example, the kind of collision a player has with a wall or the exact position of his body when a tackle is made, and how it moves after. In our studio, we use this data and all other movement data (like running, jumping, etc) to create the animations of the game. The most important part was building a new game engine that can create the correct player animations and are connected to the game environment, creating a more realistic feeling that is also suited to the current generation of consoles. "Everything in the game is designed with the inclusion of motion capture data," said Villalta. "We have a lot of data and processes in place that we use when we're creating an animation, but since most of the information was hard to get, we were able to develop innovative, different ways to take it in, and take control of it - something that we weren't able to do in previous iterations. We have created new technology that allows us to use the movement data in a very creative way, which gives us much more control over the movements of the players." FIFA 22 also features an engine that can use both player and ball movements in a more efficient and accurate way, which is achieved by searching for efficient algorithms that can take the noise out of each motion segment.

Fifa 22 Features Key:

- 3D Morphological Player
- Career Mode - Player Career: Live out your dream
- Real Ball physics
- FIFA Ultimate Team - dominate the web

FIFA 22 introduces "HyperMotion Technology," which uses motion capture data collected from 22 real-life players playing a complete, high-intensity football match in motion capture suits. The data collected from player movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions is used to power FIFA 22 gameplay. GAME MODES

- Career Mode - Live out your dreams as both a manager and a player in FIFA 22. Create the newest club in FIFA, design your kits, style your stadium, and choose whether to compete with the elite or rise up from the lower divisions as you manage your club to glory. Or test your skills as a player, with a more immersive Player Career mode that gives you more ways to progress, achieve, and immerse yourself in your Pro's journey through the game.
- FIFA Ultimate Team - dominate the web.

FIFA is the world's leading videogame franchise. Featuring a deep story mode, a new Player Impact Engine that delivers just the right number of touches, an all-new player intelligence engine and a brand-new ball physics system, FIFA is the ultimate game of striking, dribbling, passing and scoring. EA SPORTS FIFA games are all about playing and being competitive with your friends. They capture the authentic feel of World Football - delivering authentic club presentation, authentic kits and unique player appearances as well as stunning graphics and realistic player movement. FIFA 17 takes the game into the future for the first time, delivering evolution for gameplay, presentation and innovation across every mode. Featuring a new control method, Player Impact Engine, player intelligence, the return of World Football, dynamic realistic crowds and much more, it's a landmark title for the franchise that's not to be missed. There has never been a better time to play FIFA. The experience gets even deeper in FIFA 17. The first in the series to feature game-changing innovations, the new Player Impact Engine (PIE) delivers an unprecedented amount of control and interaction on the pitch. The return of World Football, which includes the introduction of the UEFA Champions League and Europa League along with a wide range of new stadiums, delivers fresh challenges for players of every skill level. The new CONTROL METHOD! As technology continues to evolve, the way players work, practice and play football in video games has never been more dynamic and nuanced. Players can now make less precise movements, and create more convincing and realistic movements. For the first time in a FIFA game, defenders now react to how players are controlling the ball, and react even faster than in the real game. This means that if you take control of the ball, your opponents don't slow down and instead, fight to stop you from getting the ball again. It's the exact same, but for all players. The PIE is also the key to unlocking a deeper engagement with players. You will see just the right amount of contacts and touches, turning players into more than just static numbers on a screen. The new DYNAMIC SPEED! FIFA has always pushed the limits of what you can experience in a videogame, but FIFA 17 delivers the first real improvement in this area. Players now have better control of the ball in the air and are able to create a more realistic motion

With FIFA Ultimate Team, you'll be able to construct your dream squad of players from more than 100 million possible combinations. Build your squad around attributes of your favourite players, unlocking new formations, kits, rewards and, most importantly, trophies. FIFA 20 Players, Tactics & Controls Guide Summary Well, we have received more than 20,000 applications and counting for the FIFA 20 beta, and it's about to get even bigger. We are now inviting to join in the Testing Phase of the beta, after which we will be looking to select the people who will be participating in the full live beta. The full beta will commence from 14th January on Xbox One and PC. We will announce selected players and the Steam and Xbox versions to participate in the beta a day or two prior. The Testing Phase consists of a number of phases. First, we want to make sure that everyone can sign up, purchase the game and have a smooth beta. Then, we need a number of players who can test games, fix bugs and give their feedback on the new features and gameplay. After that, the beta will officially start and last for five days, after which it will be left for us to select the best players for the full live beta. NOTE: If you are signed up for the full beta, you will not be able to play any of the beta stages. What to expect? You will play two different versions of FIFA 20. This beta is focused on fixing bugs in the game and testing new features. It will include the following: All Champions League and UEFA competitions (9/4 at 12pm GMT) All 32 Premier League teams All competitions (Combination teams and squad size restrictions are not lifted) Play in Custom Matches Multi-game tournaments - Pro Clubs Series, Fifa World Cup, etc. FIFA 20 Career Mode Complete your Pro evolution in the new Career Mode as you compete in 12 competitions and test your skills against 9,500 other players. FIFA 20 Ultimate Team (FUT) After FUT 20 gets its own FUT season, now you can construct your squad from the new FUT Packs. FIFA 20 Demo Play online, in local games, earn trophies and make top 3 in the world rankings. NOTE: When FUT 20 Beta opens, players who have an active subscription will be removed automatically.
